MANZ LIKE ME IS THE FIRST IN TALAWA'S FLIPPING THE SCRIPT SERIES OF PLAY READINGS AT THE YOUNG VIC. HERE ARE FOUR PLAYS EXPLORING THE HEART AND SOUL OF THE BLACK MAN

CHANGING ROOMS BY MARK OLIVER – 18TH SEPTEMBER 2008

As a young man redecorates his flat with his unemployed brother, social differences, ambition and a difficult woman expose what they love and hate about each other.

RUM AND COCA COLA BY MUSTAPHA MATURA - 28TH OCTOBER 2008

A new version of the comedy of a teacher and his apprentice exploring the world of calypso while singing on a beach in Trinidad. But as one generation gives way to another, the charmed life ends with alarming consequences.

SEE THE GLORY BY OTHNIEL SMITH – 20TH NOVEMBER 2008

A Pastor, his son and too many lies plunge a family into crisis and the son into prison. Told from the points-of-view of the father and his sister, 'See The Glory' is a harrowing tale of unexpressed love, family strength and redemption.

ZEST FOR LIFE BY MICHAEL BHIM – 18TH DECEMBER 2008

Talawa's latest commission sees a pitched battle between a runaway son and his mother. When her new man enters and tries to reconcile the two, he discovers skeletons in the closet that should remain buried.
